

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

If the FCC is supposed to guard against this type of thing when it allows this consolidation -- where are they???? Arent you supposed to be on the publics side?

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard.

why is the fox guarding the henhouse?

Thank you.
